"Further rental rate improvement and strong execution of growth initiatives led to another quarter of superb financial achievement," noted Brad Barber, chief executive officer of H&E. "Our second quarter results included records for rental revenues, which increased 28.6% from the year-ago measure, and gross profit. Rental rates were 7.1% better than the same quarter in 2022, while improving 1.1% on a sequential quarterly basis. Through the first six months of 2023, rental rates were up 8.2% compared to the same period in 2022. Our rate performance, which excludes One Source, remains among the best in the industry. Physical utilization in the quarter reached 69.3%, 390 basis points below the extraordinary measure of 73.2% recorded in the year-ago quarter, while increasing 200 basis points on a sequential quarterly basis. Dollar utilization of 40.6% in the quarter was essentially unchanged from the year-ago measure, while improving 200 basis points from the first quarter of 2023. Finally, robust revenues and gross margin in our used equipment sales underscore the exceptional opportunities available for this segment of our business."

Continuing, Mr. Barber added, "We achieved substantial progress in the quarter with business expansion initiatives focused on our rental fleet and branch network. Gross capital investment in our rental fleet totaled approximately $247 million, representing a record quarterly outlay for the Company. At the close of the second quarter, the size of our rental fleet, as measured by original equipment cost ("OEC"), totaled approximately $2.6 billion, a 30% increase when compared to our OEC on June 30, 2022. Also, we continued our focus on branch expansion with the opening of six new locations in the quarter. These locations, which improved our branch density in the Mid-Atlantic, Southeast, Gulf Coast, and Intermountain regions, increased our branch count on June 30, 2023, to 126 locations across 29 states, representing branch growth over the last year of 19%."

Mr. Barber closed with an encouraging assessment of the industry and the Company's prospects for additional growth, stating, "Resilient nonresidential construction demand through May 2023 resulted in a 17% improvement in year-over-year customer spending growth, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. As a result, healthy project backlogs remain in place, and we expect them to be sustained through 2023, with positive implications for 2024. Also, an increase in the number of large-scale projects serve as a likely catalyst for further construction spending and expansion across the equipment rental industry. Construction of these private and federally funded projects, which include sizable manufacturing installations and public infrastructure programs, are active throughout our geographic footprint and represent a growing component of our project mix. We expect the combination of strong industry fundamentals and the stimulus from major projects to produce solid business opportunities through the balance of 2023 and into 2024. As an indication of our confidence in the continuation of this favorable industry environment, we have raised our 2023 gross capital expenditures to a range of $600 million to $650 million, up from a previous range of $500 million to $550 million. Also, we have raised our anticipated 2023 branch additions to a range of 12 to 15 locations, up from 10 to 15 locations."

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

This press release contains certain non-GAAP measures (EBITDA, and the disaggregation of equipment rental revenues and cost of sales numbers) detailed below. EBITDA is a non-GAAP measure as defined under the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC").

We use EBITDA in our business operations to, among other things, evaluate the performance of our business, develop budgets and measure our performance against those budgets. We also believe that analysts and investors use EBITDA as supplemental measures to evaluate a company's overall operating performance. However, EBITDA has material limitations as an analytical tool and you should not consider the measure in isolation, or as a substitute for analysis of our results as reported under GAAP. We consider EBITDA a useful tool to assist us in evaluating performance because it eliminates items related to components of our capital structure, taxes and non-cash charges. The items that we have eliminated in determining EBITDA for the periods presented are interest expense, income taxes, depreciation of fixed assets (which includes rental equipment and property and equipment) and amortization of intangible assets. However, some of these eliminated items are significant to our business. For example, (i) interest expense is a necessary element of income taxes is a necessary element of our costs; and (iii) depreciation is a necessary element of our costs and ability to generate revenue because we incur a significant amount of interest expense related to our outstanding indebtedness; (ii) payment of income taxes is a necessary element of our costs; and (iii) depreciation is a necessary element of our costs and ability to generate revenue because that eliminates components of our capital structure and costs and ability to generate revenue because that eliminates components of our capital structure and costs and ability to generate revenue because that eliminates components of our capital structure and costs and ability to generate revenue because that eliminates components of our capital atmount of interest expense related to our outstanding indebtedness; (ii) payment of income taxes is a necessary element of our costs; and (iii) depreciation is a necessary element of our costs and ability to generate revenue because that e measure may not be comparable to other similarly titled measures used by other companies.
